DEMONSTRATIONS

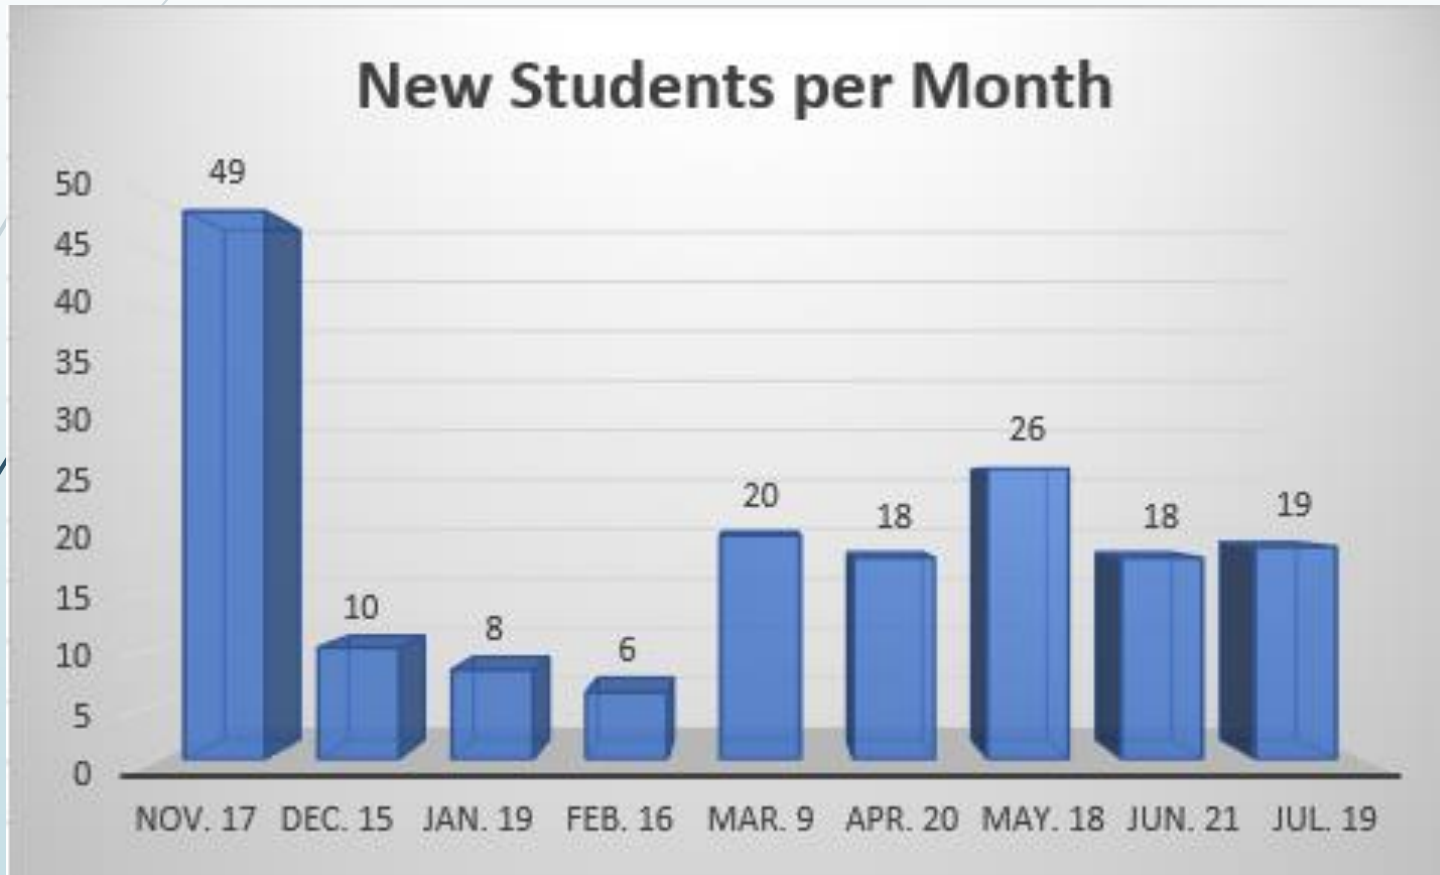

In January of 2018, the WETC/WDC Food Pantry teamed up with Raul Joaquin Abrego, a Community Health Worker from Metropolitan Health District's Healthy Neighborhoods Program to provide demonstrations to the WETC students. There have been 7 demonstrations that have commenced at the Food Pantry.

Food demos are performed during the food pantry distribution. He demonstrates how to cook healthy meals with the food they receive. The students at WETC enjoy learning how to add vegetables into their meals and are able to sample new recipe items. Some of which were Eggplant Sandwiches and Cucumber Salads, along with learning how to make Mason Jar Compost Gardens in March by a guest presenter; Chris Apolinar. These demonstrations will continue each month during the food pantry hours.
